STREET MEETING SPEAKERS GET ARRESTED THEY WERE LOOKING FOR

In open defiance of strict orders issued by Sheriff J. Leroy, Mrs. Elizabeth Glendower Evans, a wealthy woman of Brookline, Mass., attempted to address an open air meeting on Ferry street Tuesday evening under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties Union and the Socialist party. Mrs. Evans, who had started to speak to the crowd and Albert T. Boardman, secretary of the American Civil Liberties Union, followed by a crowd of a thousand men, women and children, were taken to police headquarters. Both were released under bonds of $100 each to appear in court this (Wednesday) morning to answer charges of "refusing to obey an officer."

This was the first of a series of open air "challenge" meetings arranged for Connecticut cities under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties Union and the Socialist party.

Expectant Crowd Awaits Arrest

The arrest of Mrs. Evans and Mr. Boardman was one of the most sensational in the history of Norwich police circles. A surging crowd estimated at a thousand clamored and pushed their way down Ferry street to the automobile which Mrs. Evans had arranged to have her address on "Freedom of Speech."

The fact that the Socialist party intended to hold the meeting in defiance of Mayor Lerou's order gained wide publicity long before 8 o'clock the hour set for the meeting, the crowd began to gather. Ferry street and part of Main street was a mass of expectant humanity that had gathered to see the freewheeling Socialist party.

Men, women and children eagerly awaited the arrival of the woman speaker. Half a dozen times there were calls for the crowd to be quiet, and then the crowd would clamor, and push and strain their necks to get a glimpse of the woman who intended openly to defy the police.

At 8:15 Mrs. Evans made her appearance escorted by Mr. Boardman. The crowd broke into cries of "She is here," "Make way there," "Let her speak."

After considerable difficulty Mrs. Evans and Mr. Boardman succeeded in reaching Mrs. Boardman's automobile which was parked on Ferry street. "I believe in the Declaration of Independence and I believe the Constitution of the United States guarantees free speech."

Police Give Orders

At this point, Police Sergeant John H. Kane who was standing near the machine with Officer Daniel O'Neil, said to Mrs. Evans, "You are not to speak."

"Very well," said Mrs. Evans to the officer and to the crowd, "this meeting is adjourned to Steller's hall."

Albert T. Boardman, a leader of the local Citizens' League, was recently arrested for attempting to conduct an open air meeting there and Sergeant Kane if Mrs. Evans was to speak. The officer told him that she was to be arrested as soon as she refrained from speaking.

Boardman Precipitately Arrested

"You can't do that," said Mr. Boardman. "Mrs. Evans is going to speak."

"No," said Sergeant Kane.

"Then place her under arrest," said Mr. Boardman.

"You can't do that," said the officer to Mrs. Evans and to Mr. Boardman, "You come too."

"What for?" asked Mr. Boardman.

"For refusing to move your machine," said the officer.

Both were taken to police headquarters by the officers, the crowd following, and the charge entered against their names was "obstruction of justice."

Bonds were fixed at $100 each and were furnished by Aaron Goldblatt. At headquarters Mr. Boardman admitted that he had refused to move his machine and that he had refused to obey an officer. Bonds were fixed at $100 each and were furnished by Aaron Goldblatt. At headquarters Mr. Boardman admitted that he had refused to move his machine and that he had refused to obey an officer.

Mrs. Evans gave her age as 64 and said she is American born. Mrs. Evans and Mr. Boardman appear in court this (Wednesday) morning.

Finishes Speech in Hall

As soon as they were released under bonds they headed directly for Steller's hall, trailed by the crowd that had followed them to police headquarters, and there Mrs. Evans completed the speech she started to make on the street. The hall was crowded to capacity with men, women and children, but before Mrs. Evans had completed her address the crowd had thinned down to some extent and she started to speak on the piano.

The speaker of the evening was over.

A vote of thanks was given to the Italian band which responded by playing other selections and to the Italian Labor Union and to the following who made contributions for the occasion:

Rafael De Gruttola, Nino Di Palma, Frank Pedaci, Primo Pedaci, P. Madio, A. Hicido, D. Pedaci, J. W. Carvelate, Jack Allegretti, R. D'Alto, F. Minini, P. Maderio, D. Piacenza, R. Ciardillo, M. SCHOOL COMMITTEE RE-ELECTS

B. P. BISHOP CHAIRMAN

The town school board held their organization meeting on Tuesday evening and re-elected B. P. Bishop chairman of the board for the coming year with T. E. Kelly as secretary. The following committees were appointed: Care of Property, Robert McNeely and Charles O. Murphy; committee on supplies, W. P. McGarry and Charles A. Saxton; financial committee, Charles A. Saxton and W. P. McGarry.

Among things discussed at the meeting was the congestion in the Bridge district school and it was suggested that the kindergarten department could be moved another location it might relieve the situation.

Proper observance of the Pilgrim centenary during the fall term of school was discussed and a suitable observance has been suggested for each school in the city.

TWO LEGHORN PENS GO FAST HIGH WATER MARK

In the forty-ninth week of the egg laying contest at Storrs two more pens, both Leghorns, have passed the high-water mark. This makes a total of five pens that have laid 2,000 eggs or more to date. In the 1914 contest only two pens had passed the high-water mark at the end of the forty-ninth week. Their respective production was 2,036 and 2,011 eggs. In 1915 none of the 100 pens had reached the 2,000 mark at the end of the forty-ninth week. In the 1917 contest only two pens had been able to reach an average of 200 eggs per pen. These pens laid 2025 and 2075 respectively. In the 1918 contest two more pens were able to repeat the performance by laying 2,071 and 2,230 eggs. In the 1919 contest no pens had reached the high-water mark. In the present contest J. Henry Shannon's Barred Plymouth Rocks from Westhampton Beach, L. I., laid 2,087, Pinechest Orchard's Rhode Island Reds from Groton, Mass., has a total of 2,056 and two pens of White Leghorns owned by E. A. Ballard, Chestnut Hill, Pa., and Hollywood Farm, Hollywood, Wash., have a total of 2,000 eggs each. Oneck Farm's Barred Rocks from Westhampton Beach, L. I., were first with a yield of 48 eggs. Pinechest Orchard's Rhode Island Reds from Groton, Mass., were second with 49 eggs. W. Edgar Baker's pen of Leghorns made third place with a yield of 29 eggs. A pen of White Rocks owned by Chickataubut Farm, Canton, Mass., and a pen of White Leghorns owned by A. P. Robinson, Calverton, N. Y., both tied for fourth place with 28 eggs each. The total for all pens was 2,963 eggs of a yield of 28.4 per cent.

One of the outstanding features of the present contest is that a Barred Plymouth Rock owned by Rock Rose Farm, Katonah, N. Y., laid 77 eggs in 77 days. If this hen had laid one more day she would have laid 104 eggs in 104 days. Her record however, surpasses a White Leghorn and a Salmon Favorelle which previously held the record with 64 eggs in 64 days.

The three leading pens in each of the principal varieties are as follows:

Plymouth Rocks.
Jules F. Francis, (Barred) Westhampton Beach, L. I. 2121

KERR'S FLAX-SEED EMULSION

Countless grave sicknesses are recognized by the medical profession as having their direct or indirect cause in a neglected cold or cough. Kerr's flax seed emulsion, Linonine, is most helpful. Medicine knows no surer healing agent for the inflamed mucous membranes of nose, throat and lung passages. Thus while Linonine is removing colds, coughs and bronchitis it also nature's chief aid in restoring vitality.

Pettis, chairman of the republican town committee, said that the Davis theatre has been secured for the occasion and that he does not expect that a very large crowd will be large enough to seat the big crowd.

LOCAL ITALIANS HOLD COLUMBUS DAY PARADE

The Italian residents of Norwich observed Columbus Day Tuesday evening with a short street parade and speaking at Carpenter's hall. The Italian band led the parade in which some half dozen automobiles were in line and fire was played by the band.

The line of march was through Main street up Franklin street, Willow street Broadway and through Main street to Carpenter's hall, in front of which the band played a number of patriotic selections.

Joseph W. Carvelate, director of the Americanization Institute was the speaker of the evening. His address, though brief, was interesting. In part he said:

"Today is indeed a great day for it is Columbus Day. Today millions of people have been thinking about Columbus and the Italians should be proud of him because it was Italy that produced him. America has now grown to be the greatest country of the world.

"Columbus day is becoming a national holiday and I am glad that the Italians of Norwich have gotten up this parade as a gratitude to the great discoverer. For it was he who set on foot the day, across the trackless sea, his men begged him to turn back, but he would not and through faith and courage he arrived at the promised land. Had he no ambition, no faith, no hope, he would have remained with his father in the trade of wool dealer, surely he would have never discovered this continent. But he was a constructive and progressive, and because of those sterling qualities of his he accomplished what no other man dared. Let us, my countrymen, profit by those wonderful examples of faith and courage which Columbus endured, fought and the odds.

A vote of thanks was given to the Italian band which responded by playing other selections and to the Italian Labor Union and to the following who made contributions for the occasion:

No complexion treatment yet discovered seems to have become so generally and so immediately popular as the mercerized flax seed emulsion. Evidently the reason is that this method actually gets rid of a face complexion, which can hardly be said or done. Evidently the reason is that the defective skin with cosmetics cannot compare with the effect of literally removing the skin itself. Mercerized flax seed oil, the offering surface skin in flour-like particles, a little at a time, until there is none of it left. The new complexion produced exhibits a healthy glow and girlish beauty obtainable in no other way. This wax, which you can get at your druggist's, is applied at night in the same way you use cold cream, and washed off in the morning.

Here is one thing that actually does remove wrinkles, and remove them quickly! Tender, smooth skin, once dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Use as a face wash.
