

PEER FEEDBACK INSTRUCTIONS

In small groups of four or fewer, each person will share their King Philip's War infographic. After each student presents their infographic to their small group, the audience members in the group will complete a peer feedback table below.

Repeat this process until all students have presented to their small group.

To wrap up, each student should complete the self-evaluation table at the end of this document.

Group member #1 name:
One thing this presenter did well in their infographic.	One thing this presenter could improve upon in their infographic.	One thing you think you did well in your work that you could offer as advice to this presenter.

Group member #2 name:
One thing this presenter did well in their infographic.	One thing this presenter could improve upon in their infographic.	One thing you think you did well in your work that you could offer as advice to this presenter.

Group member #3 name:
One thing this presenter did well in their infographic.	One thing this presenter could improve upon in their infographic.	One thing you think you did well in your work that you could offer as advice to this presenter.

Self-evaluation:
1. What are you most proud of about your King Philip's War infographic? Why? 2. What would you do differently if you could do this assignment over again? Why?
